Work taking place near Hurlstone Agricultural High School

On Thursday 23 March and Friday 24 March 2023, geotechnical investigations will be carried out on the land adjacent to Hurlstone Agricultural High School to inform the future planning of the site.

Several boreholes will be made on site using a vehicle mounted drill rig. The equipment used will be roughly as loud as a commercial lawnmower. The test areas will be reinstated to their current condition following the works.

The contractors are working closely with School Infrastructure NSW to minimise impacts on school operations and have negotiated the access from Roy Watts Road through the farm area of Hurlstone Agricultural High School to access the Department owned land. Working hours will be from 7am to 5pm on both days.

This work is not related to the upgrade at Hurlstone Agricultural High School.
