

Summary:

Acknowledgement to Country

- Further proposed changing to the Acknowledgement of Country – the latest draft (attached actioned items) it is recommended “our Gamilaraay People” is to remove “our” to “the Gamilaraay” as it is problematic to have possessive pronouns when it comes to Indigenous Peoples. I am going to reach out to two Gamilaray language teachers – Beth (who taught Gamilaray to Helen, Cliff and a few others at Dubbo TAFE0 & Tracey (my University of Sydney colleague).
- I thought the discussion was to have the Acknowledgement full in Gamilaraay on one glass door and then in full in English on the other door, not broken up.

Sources of Country Language and Block Icons

- Are there other options available? From my perspective the goanna looks quite cartoon like and the “Guli” looks like standard grass. An artist working on the University of Sydney Native Grains project recently produced these pieces for a public art piece in Moree (attached) so I enquired whether she would be interested in supporting the high school project with an appropriate image of Guli. Would this be possible?
- The selected names were Guli (Native Grain), Bandarr (Grey Kangaroo), Dhinawan (Emu), Gugaa (Goanna), Biiwii (Sand Goanna), Biggibila (Echidna/Porcipine), Wungala (Witchety Grubs), Guya (Fish), Bugali (Yabby) – The discussion was that there are 6 building names, gugaa & biiwii for the basketball and sportsfield & Wungala for the courtyard.
- My understanding was that we were not going to have the English but the image would become the English translation, perhaps where there is English translation we could have the phonetic pronunciation?
- It would be more culturally appropriate to have the Gamilaraay words for the food sources to be all in lower case.

External Screen Design

- Are we able to attribute the artwork to the students involved and there is also a question of copyright ownership of WWHS/students and additional ICIP rights to the students and whether consent has been given to the suggested changes in design to the screen.

Honour Board

- Can we get a proposed image of the Tulladunna map feature flooring so that the community can have informed consent of what people will be walking on.

Memorial Plaques

- Helen is working with the families to obtain informed consent and the provision of a quote from each family. It was recommended that the wording be “In respect and recognition to Wee Waa’s first Aboriginal Educators

Binaalbaa

- Binaal translates to “well behaved, well mannered” & binaal bunma-li translates to “quieten, soothe, calm, settle down” (GaayGaray app)
- Somewhere at the entrance can we also translate the meaning.

Carpet Tile Design

- New design was agreeable to Helen and Robyn but should be taken to the meetings on the 27th

Documentation Edits

- Where possible can Gomeroi culture not “Indigenous” and where Indigenous is used can we ensure it is capitalised?
- Helen also raised that the communication boards in Jacqui’s office have Binaalbaa and culture spelt incorrectly.

Planting

- Map with indication of which plants are native and which ones are local to Gomeroi Country?
- Plan on how the plants will be cared for and how local Gomeroi will have access?

My actions are to update a CwC update document and consult with Beth and Tracey on language.

As always happy to chat.

Kind Regards,

Katie

Hi all,

After discussing with Robyn last week the most appropriate would be Mon 27 when the LALC member and board meetings are occurring.

I am open to coming up for this as long that is supported by Schools Infrastructure and the projects teams.

Cheers,

Katie

Robyn has said 1pm is the best time for a session and she has sent the invite out to the Wee Waa LALC board.

I will be in Wee Waa from 12.

@Jocellin do you want to send an invite out via book bag too?

Hi Jocellin,

I'm hoping to. Robyn only returned to work yesterday and was going to do the ring around. If we can get enough participants we will do it. Driving up to Narrabri today. It is more likely than not to go ahead.

Hi Katie

I should have mentioned that Wee Waa is in the heat zone so our students have a staggered start from the 7th February.

Jac has confirmed that we can't do anything with students as a school during the holidays as we would have to have staff supervising. We can however promote a CWC meeting / workshop on Facebook and SkoolBag and on the Wee Waa Facebook page, but it just couldn't be school controlled event.

I am really happy to do this, but we just can't be sure what kind of numbers you might get.

Please don't hesitate to call if you'd like to discuss it further.

Shall wait to hear how you'd like to proceed.

Have a great weekend everyone.

Hi Joc,

I hope you are well and having a relaxing break.

Not sure if you will see this before a return from school holidays but I will be up in Narrabri the week Jan 30 – 3 Feb for Native Grains harvesting and thought it would be convenient to organise some final CwC sessions and potential for some students to be involved in Native Grains activities with Angela, Aunty Kerrie and University of Sydney researchers.

Robyn has advised that she returns to work that week of Jan 30 and can try to have some board members available.

Kind Regards,

Katie
